The detection level was about .01 ppb when we started, but it is about .003 ppb, or less since the last couple Orders. The UCMR sampling data didn't require as low a detection limit since many labs could not routinely achieve that.

We have maps and tables from the progress reports which we've been getting
That is our starting point from the most recent data
Roger-I know we have them in paper but do you have any of the maps electronically?
